The WMB Series Mowing Bucket is a specialized attachment for the agricultural, forestry, and land maintenance sectors. Designed for land reclamation consortia, agricultural businesses, and forestry contractors, it is ideal for cutting grass, shrubs, reeds, and light vegetation along embankments, ditches, uncultivated land, and roadsides—ensuring fast and precise operations even in hard-to-reach areas. It is particularly suitable for maintaining proper irrigation water flow, helping keep channels and waterways consistently efficient.

The front cutting system, combined with a wide-mesh grid, allows mowing operations even underwater, enabling simultaneous cutting and collection of grass and reeds directly inside the bucket.

Its operation is based on a new transmission system, developed in collaboration with industry operators, which uses a reversing cylinder to convert hydraulic power into an oscillating, saw-like motion. A reliable and efficient solution, suitable even for the most demanding tasks.

The tilting kit with leaf spring ensures optimal ground adherence, absorbing stress and protecting the attachment over time while maintaining consistent working quality.
